

World's GPS Businessman of Year 2007 declared

RAKESH Verma, managing director, MapmyIndia, has been declared as 'World's GPS Businessman of Year 2007' by GPSBusinessNews.com, the leading online media providing news on the GPS industry.

MapmyIndia was the only Indian company in the list of nominees that included industry leaders like Nokia, TomTom, Tele Atlas, SiRF and Nav N Go.

Verma has been chosen by the world community for driving the navigation industry in India by introducing innovative navigation products on the internet, mobile phone and in-car space.
